

Productive writing

5-hour workshop

DCA at Panum, September 15, 10.00-15.00, 2026

At this workshop you will practice writing tools and approaches that will make your daily writing practice more efficient and effortless.

There is time allocated to write on your own text, so it is very important that you bring a charged computer and a text along that you are writing on. This can be your PhD plan, an academic article, a protocol, a funding application, your thesis or even a more popular text.

After lunch we work with storytelling. It is optimal if you have a piece of text where you are working on how to develop a good structure – preferable a text that is in an early stage of writing. You can work on anything from the storyline in your final thesis or an article to the story in an abstract – there are stories in all texts – short and long.

Place: Faculty Lounge, 7.15.107A, Mærsk Tower, University of Copenhagen

Facilitator: Mirjam Godskesen, www.writeconcept.dk

Program:

- 10.00-11.00 Introduction to writing processes and the first and most important writing tool:
The art of setting very specific goals for your writing
- 11.00-11.15 Break with coffee and tea
- 11.15-12.30 Writing goals are shared in groups and you write on your own text
- 12.30-13.15 Lunch
- 13.15-15.00 Storytelling in academic writing: Introduction to storytelling in academic writing, time to work on your own narrative and sharing in groups of two
- 15.00 End of workshop